Sparkle, his black and white cat, had not slept there. She had been missing for three days and nights. "We'll just have to keep looking," Lee mumbled.

"Lee," Nan said. "Can you help us? We don't know where we put our new pens."

They looked on Nan's desk. They looked under Fran's bed. They even looked in the wastebasket.

Then Lee looked at Fran and Nan. A smile broke out on his face. He started laughing. "They'll never believe this," he thought.

At last Lee said, "Your pens are in your hair!" Nan fumbled in her hair and found her pen. Then Fran found her pen in her curls.

They looked at Sparkle's kittens. Three black kittens slept. Three white kittens stumbled on Sparkle's tail.
