"Dad, what will I be when I grow up?" he asked quietly.

"You like cooking," Dad replied. "Yes," Lester said. "I can make crust for pies. And I know how to use a roller." He stopped to think.

"I can throw fast!" Lester thought. "That's it! I might be a pitcher for big teams."

"Yes," Lester replied. "I could keep rulers, paper, and pens in my desk." Then he cried, "That's it! I might be a teacher!"

"That's right!" exclaimed Lester. "I can cook, throw fast, read, and tell stories! I can be a lot of things when I grow up."

"You are something right now, Lester," Grandmother said. "You are the best grandson in the world. So try not to grow up too fast," she said with a smile.
